

$425,000,000 VOTED FOR NAVY, TWICE SUM BRITAIN WILL SPEND

fleet of 16 battleships, 4 battle cruisers, 28 light cruisers, with destroyers and submarines in proportion. I think that is about the fleet we would have to-day if we could get the men. Whether we can get them or not is a question.

"I would like to find out as the debate proceeds what our navy officials are doing as to scrapping our old ships. England went so far as to scrap three battle cruisers that were partially constructed of the same type as the great ship Hood, of which the Chairman of the Naval Committee spoke, a magnificent battle cruiser, which she has since completed and which has since crossed the ocean to this country. It is a splendid ship, of the latest type, the last word in the construction of great fighting ships, for the Hood is a 42,000-ton vessel. But three other sister ships of the same size, that were already started, and on which considerable work had been done, were scrapped.

"That building programme of great battleships was entirely abandoned by England. France did the same thing with its super-dreadnought programme; she actually scrapped four super-dreadnoughts upon which she had already done considerable work.

"There is only one country from which I have not been able to get reliable information, and that is Japan. I am not able to state what Japan is doing."

The latest figures show that, after the Navy Department had asked for $573,000,000 in November, 1919, it submitted supplemental estimates, bringing the total demand up to $680,051,254, including the amount estimated for work next year on the warships provided for in the naval programme of 1916. Subsequently, the Secretary of the Navy requested additional appropriations amounting to $148,758,200.

The amount appropriated for the navy for this year is $613,246,938, so it appears that, when all the demands are taken into consideration, the navy, following the Washington idea that the war is not over, asked for more money to spend next year than it was allowed to spend this year.

The House votes to-day on the report of the sub-committee which has been investigating the money spent for camps and cantonments and will act on the recommendation of the sub-committee that the Department of Justice be asked to bring criminal proceedings and suits for recovery of moneys against persons who are accused, but not by name of defrauding the Government to the extent of more than $75,000,000.

Representative Doremus, the minority member of the sub-committee, in a long argument yesterday, shot the figures submitted by the majority all to pieces, but the general attitude of the Republican members was one of determination to stand by the findings of their party colleagues on the sub-committee.

A thousand pairs of Curtains at a quarter to a third less $1.85 to $36 pair

Were $3 to $47.50 pair, in our own stocks

This is our usual Spring Sale. Rather than disappoint our customers, we reduce prices on our own curtains because we were unable to find ANY good curtains to sell under price. There is no surplus of curtains in the market.

In a sense, these curtains are among the best of our stocks. For the collection includes curtains which have sold down to less than a dozen pairs of a kind. It also includes several groups, in larger quantities, which cannot be duplicated.

Brightest and most decorative of

Trimmings

For the Spring Costume

Newly arrived from Paris

All the important accessories, the finishing touches that transform a commonplace frock into a distinctive creation, a gown combining style and individuality—all these are gathered together in our Trimming Shop.

An inspiration for a gown is a broad flouncing of black net embroidered with gold thread and silver or black beads.

Many other colorings, including henna on black; $6.75 to $34.75.
Georgette crepe is also used for flouncings and bands, embroidered in silk braid of self or contrasting colors. Widths 1 1/2 inches to 40 inches; $2.50 to $13.95.

Chalk beads

embroidered in floral patterns on net and combined with chenille, are a new and most effective idea for trimming. Bands from 1 to 9 1/2 inches; $3.75 to $18.50.
Motifs and bead girdles to match.

Spangles

in all over patterns, or combined with bugle beads, are alluringly festive and shimmering for use on an evening gown. Widths 14 inches to 24 inches; $9.95 to $39.75.

Jet beads are exceedingly smart for the black frock in a variety of uses.

Beaded girdles, buckles, motifs and tassels all have a particular and distinctive value for the costume of the smart woman.

Metal cloth

Silver, blue and silver, or green and silver makes an en-chantingly lovely evening gown —36 inches wide—$16.50. Ribbon to match 1/2 inch to 8 1/2 inches wide, 25c to $5.75.

Tunics

that are more than accessories —really the raison d'être of the handsome dinner or evening gown.

Some of the loveliest tunics are interpreted in gold bugle beads on metal thread, spangles in all black shimmering opalescent effects, and white net with self, blue or henna colored embroidery.

Only a small part of the many colored, infinitely varied and useful assortment of trimmings can be comprehended in so small a space.

Metal lace, colored bead girdles, bands and tassels, georgette crepe over-blouses, brocaded metal cloth, French rose buds, and so on, through a fascinating array too numerous to list.

Only by seeing them can you appreciate their immense variety and even greater beauty.

Main floor, Old Building.

COTTON Frocks

The smart woman chooses them NOW

Little gingham, swiss and organdie frocks are now entering the women's Gown Salons in all their freshness and charm.

Anderson gingham frocks in the newest checks and plaids, some combined with plain gingham in harmonizing color, are on simple smart lines and made fresh and immaculate with white linen or organdie collar and cuffs and by vestees of organdie.

Organdie frocks
in pale pastel tints made surplicewise and embroidered or made with simple bodies relieved by collars and vestees of organdie and real filet lace.

Dotted swiss combined with organdie, or ruffled with batiste and touched with lace.

$19.50 to $45.

Correct Trotteur Suits for women, $58

A smart pin-striped blue serge immaculately tailored and finished with black silk braid or long roll-back collar and pockets.
String girdle and absolutely straight lines.

A really fine tricotine, with notch collar and braided and pocketed, with two-tier pockets, also braided.

Another tricotine with narrow little girdle and three folds norfolk-wise down the back. The roll-back collar has a bias band to outline it.

Nearly a corner in these Japanese Rugs

So they tell us. We didn't try to do it. We liked the rugs, and bought them. And now we're told—"None so cheap or so good anywhere."

Some are of grass—tough, durable grass, woven with a four-ply warp. Cool-looking rugs in blue, green and brown, with stenciled borders of a deeper tone.

And some are of rushes, heavy corded rushes, hand-braided in 9-inch 12-inch and 18-inch blocks, then pieced together into room size rugs—these we call the Monitor rugs; or they are woven over a stout jute warp—our El Casa rugs. Both in natural, green, or brown effects.
